“ I was 10 years old when my cousin Ted married Donna. Later that evening they stopped by our house and we celebrated together. I was thrilled to be included in the celebration. Through the years, the love between Ted and Donna was an example to everyone. I could list many acts of kindness and inclusiveness, but most people reading this will already know, because she was like that to all she knew. Waves of grief will ripple through our family for a long time; but the sweet memories will last forever.
