“ Thoughts on Marcia Marie Martha Gotch Micklos by Linda Gotch Helmich My sister Marcia was, more than anyone I ever knew, a cheerleader, someone who would always be happy for any kind of success you had. She wanted to know all of the details. She loved people, and was happiest when the day was filled with relational interaction. Every greeting, every phone call was warmly received. Since people are the only “things” that last forever, in this, she had her priorities straight. She was hopeful, cheerful, optimistic person growing up, and remained that way, in spite of the many challenges and trials that came into her life, and we all have more than we would like. They could get her down, but couldn’t keep her there. Most of all, she loved babies, and could not resist cuddling one, but after that, she had a never-ending zeal to play games and read children’s books, always on the look-out for a new one to delight the children in her life, her children, grand-children, and great-grandchildren. She was excited at the news of any new baby to be born. This made her the quintessential “Grammie”. I am especially grateful for the fun times we shared on Cape Cod, walking the beach, eating sea food, laughing over funny memories, writing our book “Becoming Hulda’s Girls”, working puzzles, and sharing the joys and sorrows of our lives...all precious memories from a chapter now closed. With all of my birth family now on the other side of eternity, I feel rather like the “Last of the Mohicans”, but since I am the youngest, I suppose that is the way it should be. I rejoice for my sister that she is safely “home” at last. In loving memory...love and prayers, as my mother would always write...

“ We will always love and remember Marcia. She cared for our teeny, tiny JimBob for the first year of his life. We think she held him & cuddled him all day! She then handed him over to your Father when he arrived home from work. Your Mom then started cooking dinner. What a legacy of love and service! Our deepest sympathy to your beautiful family...Diane & Kevin Gaede
