“ Todd loved his ducking and the camaraderie that came with it in the duck blind
Always hoping another duck would fly past before the hunt was over
Caring and wonderful hunting buddy
Your with Blue now
Hopefully with your influence, you can send us some ducks this season

It will be a long while before I can sit at a symphony and not think of who's missing. Nor, for that matter, his never ending mirth at my heading home a Friday evening to shower with the wife. Godspeed friend.

Gary, Jan, and all of Todd's Family:

I am deeply saddened to hear of Todd's passing, I have so many happy memories of spending time at each other's homes when growing up in Spencer.

Todd was a very kind and generous man to all those that were fortunate to have crossed paths with him.

I have told my kids and grandkids stories of the life lessons we learned while growing up. Some stories of lessons to emulate, and of course others that should be avoided at all costs.

I recall a time when in high school Todd and I decided to skip afternoon classes and do a little pheasant hunting. On this day it began snowing around lunch time, my mother decided to call the school to tell me it was snowing and be careful driving home. When returning to school the intercom was calling me to come to the office. I got some detention time because my mother would not write me a absent note, even after I explained it was her fault for calling the school.

Most of the stories that should be avoided, revolved around motorcycles and a certain blue 69 Z28 Camaro.

Rest in peace my friend

Todd was my closest friend when we were very young, both living on Breezy Meadow Lane in Spencer, Iowa. Slept over at his house many times. When the Ellsworths moved to West 7th next to the cemetery we enjoyed walking the railroad tracks. Very nice gentle person, and somebody I always hoped to see again.

Good reminder not to put off reconnecting with old friends before its too late.

I am so sorry to hear this. Todd was one of our supply sales reps at the roofing company I used to work for. He always had a story to tell when he would come to the office. I am sure he will be missed by many. Love & peace to all. May God bring you strength and happiness in the many memories you have with Todd.
